3rd step

Create a new database

A database stores all entered players and tournaments. Of course you can create any number of databases. You can save several tournaments in a database, but this becomes a bit confusing as the number of players increases, so you should not store too many tournaments per database. Manual: Create database: Create a new database Menu item: New Database (in the left navigation window)

Manual:

1. Create database: Create a new database Menu item: New Database (in the left navigation window)